APPENDIX “D”

Administration of Articles: 15:03; 15:04 and 15:05

Prior to the commencement of a Parental leave a nurse shall advise the employer in writing of their choice of one of the following two EI SEB top up options:

1. To receive their entitled 35 or 50 week SEB top up (depending on if they did or did not take a Pregnancy Leave) over 35 or 50 continuous weeks; or
2. To receive their 35 or 50 week SEB top up entitlement spread over the entire period of time they are in receipt of Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits (EI). The total duration of which shall be either 63 weeks or 61 weeks if the nurse also took a pregnancy leave.

Should option 2 be selected, where the nurse has elected to have reduced Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits (EI) spread over the duration of her Parental Leave, the employers SEB top up portion shall be calculated as follows:

- Upon receipt by the employer of the Nurse’s first Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits cheque stub, the employer will establish the amount of top up required to be equivalent to the difference between seventy five (75%) of his or her regular weekly earnings and the sum of his or her weekly Employment Insurance (EI) benefits and any other earnings. This top up will be referred to as the Supplemental Employment Benefit (SEB);
- The employer will then take the calculated SEB and multiply it by either 35 weeks of eligibility or the 50 weeks of eligible SEB to arrive at a total gross amount of SEB to which the Nurse may be eligible for as long as he/she is in receipt of Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits. Again, this depends on whether the Nurse has already taken 15 weeks of SEB top up through a Pregnancy leave in (a) above which reduces the Nurse’s top up eligibility to 35 weeks.
- To arrive at the SEB top up amount giving the Nurse the equivalent to the difference between seventy five (75%) of his or her regular weekly earnings and the sum of his or her weekly Employment Insurance (EI) benefits and any other earnings for each of the Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits cheque stubs the employer receives from the Nurse, the employer will divide the total gross amount of the SEB the Nurse may be eligible for by either the 63 or 61 weeks of payment. This SEB top up amount will be provided to the Nurse as long as the Nurse is in receipt of Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits from Employment Insurance.

The following example, using a 35 week SEB top up maximum dollar amount spread over 61 weeks where the nurse has already taken 15 weeks pregnancy leave clarifies the intent of Option 2 above:

- A Nurse’s first EI cheque stub submitted is $328.00. The required SEB is $861.13 each week for 35 eligible weeks of SEB top up.
- To determine the amount of SEB top up payable over 61 weeks the employer multiplies the SEB of $861.13 x 35 weeks of eligibility = $30,139.55 which is the total gross amount of SEB top up the Nurse may be eligible for as long as the Nurse is in receipt of Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits from Employment Insurance.

- The $30,139.55 is then divided by the number of weeks of Parental Leave eligibility (61 or 63). In this example 61 weeks eligibility is used as the nurse has already taken a 15 week Pregnancy Leave. The $30,139.55 is divided by 61 weeks=$494.09 SEB top up each week for as long as the Nurse is in receipt of Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits from Employment Insurance. Once the Nurse is no longer in receipt of Parental Leave Employment Insurance Benefits from Employment Insurance the SEB top up ceases and no further SEB payment(s) is owing. This would be the case for example if a nurse returned to work prior to the end of his/her eligible Parental leave duration.

Notwithstanding, it is further agreed that if at any time during the Nurse's Adoption Leave; Pregnancy Leave; or Parental Leave in either Options 1 of 2 above, should the Nurse's Employment Insurance Benefits cheque stub be less than his/her first submitted EI cheque stub the employer's SEB top up shall be capped at the amount initially calculated by the employer as the SEB top up. For clarification, as an example, this top up scenario would occur if while on Adoption, Pregnancy or Parental Leave a Nurse chooses to supplement his/her income while in receipt of Employment Insurance Benefits from EI. Using Parental Leave as one example;

If the Nurse chose to supplement his/her income during 50 continuous weeks of Parental leave by working one day per week at $540.00, resulting in a reduced EI cheque stub from $547.00 to $7.00, the employer's SEB would not change and would remain capped at the initial SEB top up calculation of $642.13 per week.

And:

ONTARIO NURSES' ASSOCIATION
(hereinafter referred to as the "Association")

Re: Interim Lay-Off and Recall Protocol

- (a) In the event it becomes necessary to reduce the number of nurses covered by the Collective Agreement, for whatever reasons, the following criteria shall apply:
- i) Probationary nurses in the program(s) where layoffs will occur shall be the first laid off. Casual and temporary nurses shall not be utilized if a permanent qualified nurse is on lay-off and has indicated in writing a willingness to be recalled to the available work. It is not the intent to maintain probationary employees while qualified permanent employees are on lay off.
  - ii) In the event of a layoff, nurses in the program affected shall be laid off in the reverse order of seniority.
  - iii) A nurse who is to be laid off/bumped may elect, in the presence of a local association representative, one of the following options:
    - 1) to accept the layoff and await recall; or
    - 2) To opt to retire or resign; or
    - 3) elect placement into an available vacancy with the agreement of the Association, provided that she or he is qualified to perform the available work, or
    - 4) accept an employer reduction in their hours of work in lieu of a layoff with the agreement of the Association, including written confirmation of the duration of such reduction of hours; or
    - 5) displace another nurse in a program who has lesser bargaining unit seniority and who is the least senior nurse in the program whose work the nurse who is subject to layoff/bumping is qualified to perform. It is understood that a nurse on layoff may bump either a permanent full-time nurse or permanent part-time nurse subject to the preceding.

- 6) For clarification purposes, only Nurses registered with the College of Nurses of Ontario as a Nurse Practitioner may bump or be recalled to Nurse Practitioner positions. Only current degreed Public Health Nurses may bump or be recalled to Public Health Nurse or Registered Nurse positions. Only Registered Nurses may bump or be recalled to Registered Nurse positions unless they also have the required formal educational qualifications of a degreed Public Health Nurse.
- iv) Nurses may be recalled to temporary or casual work from layoff that they are qualified for in order of their seniority from the permanent nurses seniority list. Upon conclusion of the temporary or casual recall work the nurse shall return to lay off.
- v) The employer shall notify the nurse by registered mail at the last recorded address by the Employer and the nurse shall notify the Employer within ten (10) calendar days from the date of mailing of their intention to return and if the recall is accepted to actually return to work within those ten (10) calendar days.
- vi) When a vacancy occurs in a position following a lay-off/bump that a nurse is displaced from the nurse who vacated the position as a result of the lay-off/bump process shall be offered the opportunity to return to their former position provided such vacancy occurs within one hundred and eighty (180) days from their effective date of lay off, unless the nurse elects otherwise.
- (b) In the event of a proposed lay-off, the Employer shall provide the Association with at least sixty (60) days notice and shall meet with the Association to review the reasons for the lay-off. During such meeting the Association will be provided with the general details regarding the anticipated impact of the proposed lay-off on its members, any geographical impact, such as closures, the anticipated timeline related to individual notices of layoff; and the expected effective date of the lay-off. It is duly noted that the foregoing may need to be adjusted as needed during the process due to the Health Unit's operational requirements.
- In addition to the foregoing, the Employer will provide a list of qualifications required for bumping and recall into a program requiring any specialized training, experience or skills. The Association reserves the right to dispute the reasonableness of such required qualifications. The Employer will also identify any barriers to bumping such as restrictions where there are bona fide medical accommodations or limits on the number of nurses who may bump into a program.
- (c) Any new vacancies, as determined by the Employer, that are not a result of the lay off and bumping will be posted in accordance with the collective agreement unless otherwise mutually agreed between the parties.

- (d) Notwithstanding the above displacement, placement and recall procedures, the Employer and the Association may at any time mutually agree to formulate special measures to modify either the above protocols in order to take into account the desires of the parties to minimize the impact of displacement or to deal with particular operational considerations.

- (e) The parties agree that should there be any conflict between the collective agreement and this mutually agreed upon protocol document specifically negotiated to address layoffs, bumping, placements and recall, this protocol document shall prevail.

Re: Casual Hours in Health Connection

The successful operation of the Health Connection (HC) service, which provides telephone advice to the public on public health issues, is dependent on the Employer's ability to maintain a pool of casual Public Health Nurses (PHNs) who are familiar with agency programming, HC and possess up-to-date knowledge about matters such as its content and current practices.

To facilitate the maintenance of such a pool of casual PHNs for HC, notwithstanding Article 13.06 of the Collective Agreement, the parties agree to the following:

- 1) The Employer may offer casual PHNs available casual hours prior to permanent part-time nurses so as to maintain the following experience levels in HC:
  - (a) For each casual PHN who only works in HC - one shift every two (2) weeks;
  - (b) For each casual PHN who also works in other programs - one shift per month
- 2) Once the criteria in article 1, above, have been satisfied, additional casual hours will be offered to permanent part-time PHNs within the team, followed by casual staff.
